*Compost Certification:
STA - The US Composting Council's Seal of Testing Assurance Program; it assures that compost producers regularly sample & test compost using STA program-approved labs, for chemical, physical, and biological properties, using the same standardized testing methodologies. ( www.compostingcouncil.org )
OMRI - Organic Materials Review Institute; it assures product compliance with the regulations of the National Organic Program, and offers a third party review of compost "for use in organic production." ( www.omri.org )
CCQC - California Compost Quality Council; recently merged with the US Composting Council; CCQC previously operated a voluntary registration program through which compost producers could assure consumers that quality claims had been verified, and that producers were in compliance with state composting regulations & met state standards in terms of pathogen reduction & trace element concentrations.
